Television:

Sennheiser* Set 830 Mono/Stereo Infra-Red System

Turn up the volume when watching TV without disturbing others. Connect the transmitter to the audio output jack on your TV, then adjust the volume on the headset. (Generally used by hearing impaired people without a hearing aid.)

A microphone is also included to allow more than one person to watch TV at the same time. The hearing person uses the volume control on the TV and the hearing impaired person uses the individual volume control on their receiver.

Sennheiser* Set 830 S Neck Loop for TV or Radio (for hearing aid users)

Enjoy better hearing with the Sennheiser neck loop, which uses infra-red technology to deliver high-level quality sound from the TV or radio to your hearing aid with a "T" switch. The individually adjustable volume control allows you to watch TV with others without any disturbance. The neck loop and receiver is light weight and easy to use.
